What personal data do we collect?

As part of our engagement activities, we may collect the following information:

- Name, job title and organisation (if applicable).
- Contact details (e.g. email address, phone number).
- Feedback, opinions or responses to questionnaires.
- Participation in events, meetings or workshops.

How do we use your data?

We process your data to:

- Facilitate effective communication and collaboration.
- Keep you informed about engagement activities.
- Record and analyse feedback to improve our projects or initiatives.
- Comply with legal and regulatory requirements.

Who do we share your data with?

Your information may be shared with:

- Internal teams managing the engagement process.
- Third-party facilitators or consultants who help with the activities (only if necessary and under strict confidentiality agreements).

- Authorities if required by law.

Legal basis for processing

We process your data according to the following legal bases:

- Consent: Where you have agreed to receive updates or participate in activities.
- Legitimate interests: To engage with stakeholders in ways that are mutually beneficial.
- Legal obligation: Where necessary to comply with regulatory or statutory duties.

Your rights

Under GDPR, you have the following rights regarding your personal data:

- Access and request a copy of your data.
- Correct inaccurate or incomplete data.
- Withdraw your consent (where applicable).
- Request deletion of your data according to legal obligations.
- Object to the processing of your data under certain circumstances.
